1987 Outlaw

Volume 39

Dierks Schools
P.O. Box 124
Dierks, Arkansas

On August 19, 1974, two new teachers began work at Dierks Elementary School. Since that day, they have helped hundreds of Kindergarteners put their best feet forward as they began their school years. We remember these teachers explaining to us how to read, write, and count. Miss Brinda and Miss Linda have provided those stepping stones for thirteen years.

The kindergarten class of 1975 are now the seniors of 1987. The annual staff proudly presents this year's Outlaw to Miss Brinda and Miss Linda Franklin.

Thanks for getting us started!

Mrs. Earnestine Moore has worked at D.H.S. for the past twenty years. She started in 1967 as bookkeeper and secretary to the superintendent. The Outlaw staff is pleased to have such a special lady to dedicate our book to.

"Thanks for all the tape." Laura Brooks

"You're a wonderful secretary." Dale Harris

"Hope you enjoy your retirement years." Karen Bray

"Most of all I will remember your smile." B. Johnson

"I'll remember 'Sandi Dandi'." Sandi Parker

Mrs. Earnestine, You are truly a special lady. I've never seen you without a smile or a kind word — even when you've been interrupted from your work a hundred times. I know it's been said before, but it's never been more true - I don't know how we'll get along without you! I love you dearly, and I'll miss you. Sandra Stapleton

Mrs. E.

My years in the Dierks school system would have been impossible without your assistance. This is especially true for the past six years while I have served as superintendent. Your friendly, positive, and helpful attitude have served as an example to all who have come into contact with you over the past twenty years. Thanks for all your help and for being my "right hand" and most of all for being my friend.

Mr. C
Superintendent

We love you Mrs. Earnestine!!

OKAY! HOLD IT RIGHT THERE.

Don't you dare turn another page before you finish reading this one. I know you're thinking I'm not going to read all that print - how boring! Anyway I would much rather see how many pictures of me are in here.

Well, listen if you are thinking that, you had better reconsider because this isn't any ordinary yearbook. It's about your activities, your friends, your sports. It's about your school. Even all this writing is about you !

Remember when last summer began on May 30, 1986, at 3:00? Everyone flocked to the lake for fun in the sun. Some of us hit the mall first to get jams or a swimsuit only to realize we had moved up to a double digit size.

After summer jobs, summer school or just summer nothing, eleven hundred twenty-four feet trudged back into class. Seniors sported new rings and really pulled rank on the under classmen. Everyone, even Kelly Hill, wore swatch watches and all the girls wore hot colored shoes.

Mrs. Moore took part in our colored shoe campaign.
Several grade schoolers won ribbons in the county fair. Ryan Brooks was grand champion winner. The Outlaw Marching Band took time-out during the summer of '86 to march in the Dierks Pine Tree Festival

The Swiss Swatch was the big craze this year.

Rhonda, Karen, Shana, Becky, Sandi, and Karla donned their jams for Jam on the Lions Day.
Jon Dowdy displays his jams and proves the band has spirit too.

Finally after beating the heat of two-a-day practices, the football team kicked off the season on September 5, at Glenwood. We had our first home-coming dance after the game with Bearden. Along with football season and pep rallies, came the county fairs. Kids drew pictures and groomed live-stock in hopes of a blue ribbon.

Cooler weather greeted us and everyone broke out the sweats and camo for the November deer season. The cold winter mornings came and made it a hassle to get out of bed and an even bigger chore to get our cars started. We'll never forget how cold it was in the gym practicing basketball; but we knew that the colder it got, the closer we were to Christmas break.

After the Christmas holidays came to a close and everyone settled back into the routine, 30 students were victims of senioritis because 1987, their year, had arrived. Spring came quickly and was a busy time of banquets, the play and the prom. Graduation will soon be here. The seniors have finally made it, and it is nearly summer again. But now the 1987 Outlaw takes time out for ONE LAST LOOK.

Varities of shoe styles and colors were prominent in the 1980's.

Teresa Morris flashes her ever present smile.

About the cover. . .

Each Outlaw cover is unique in its own special way. This year the Outlaw staff chose the predominate colors of blue and silver. D.H.S. is the centerpiece for the yearbook cover. The back of the 1987 OUTLAW holds special memories for our Seniors. The small horse placed inside a diamond was taken from the cover of the 1975 annual. This was the first yearbook for the Seniors of '87. The school seal is also present on the back cover. The seal reads ''Esto Perpetua.'' This Latin phrase means, ''May she endure forever''. Our theme, chosen in the summer of '86, is One Last Look.

Lisa Holley and her friend are busy working on a health report.

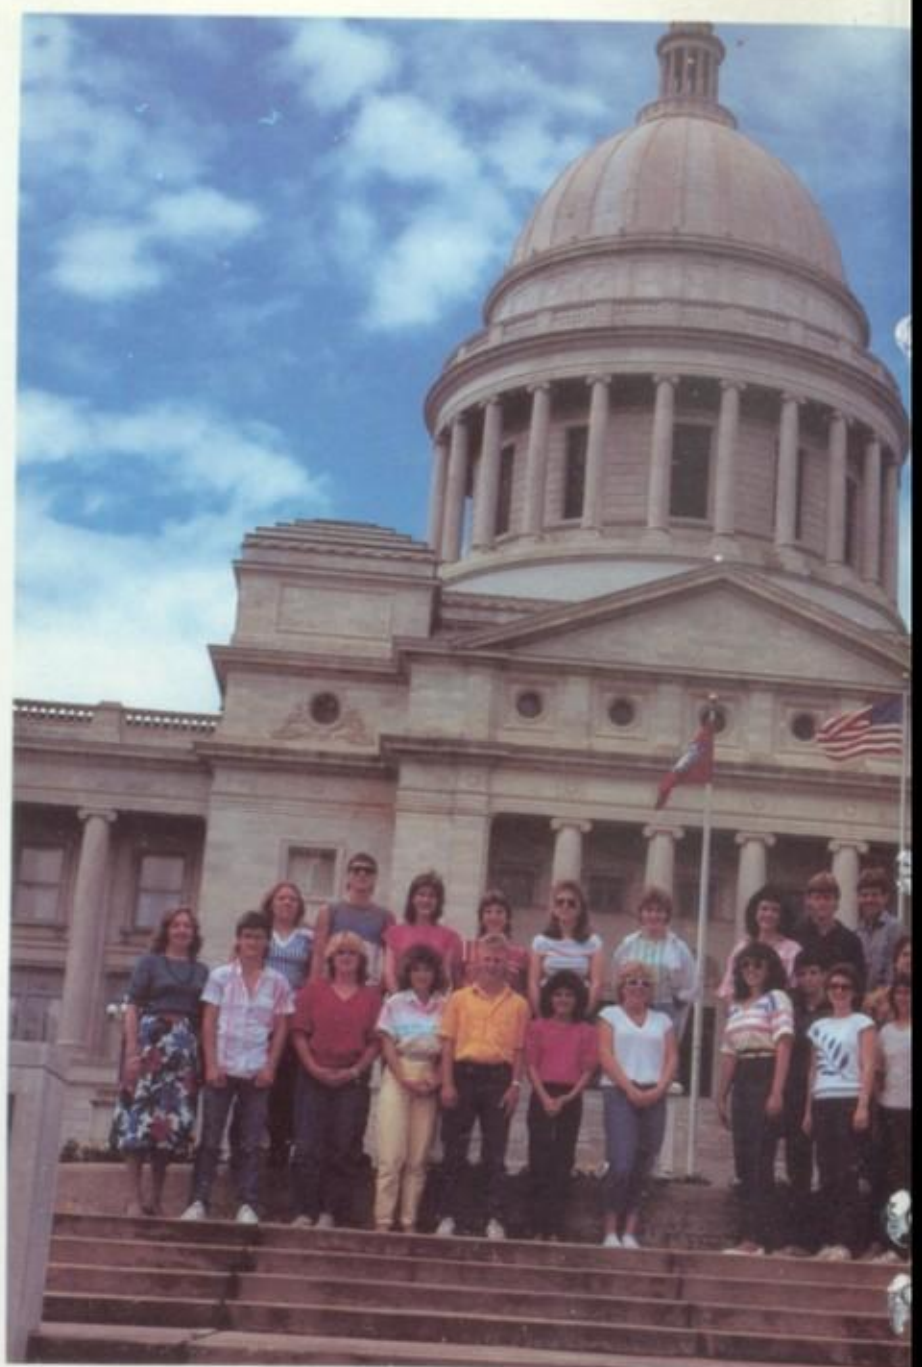
The senior class officers took a break to pose on the staircase

Michael Jackson took the first smash at the Hornet mobile.



"The thing I will remember the most is how much we grew up from our junior year to our senior."

Melissa Chandler

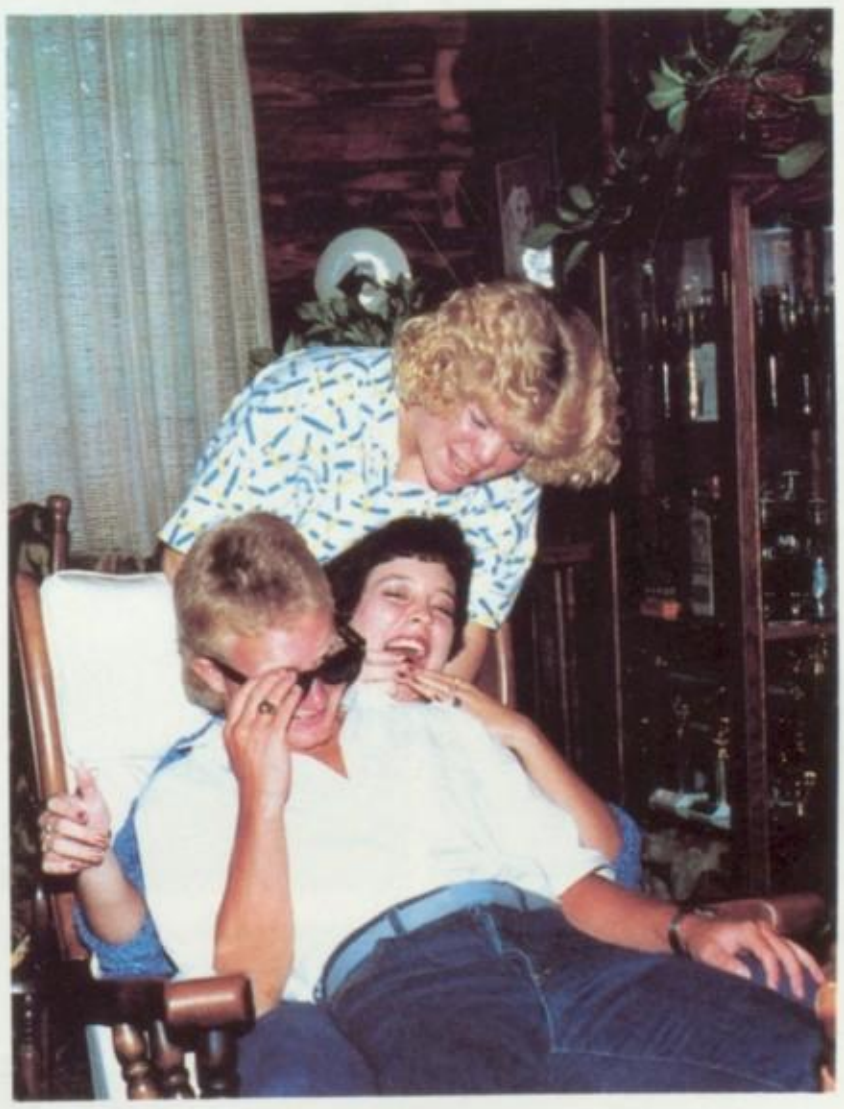
"As a senior at DHS I will remember the changes that have occured and the closeness of friendships that have grown."

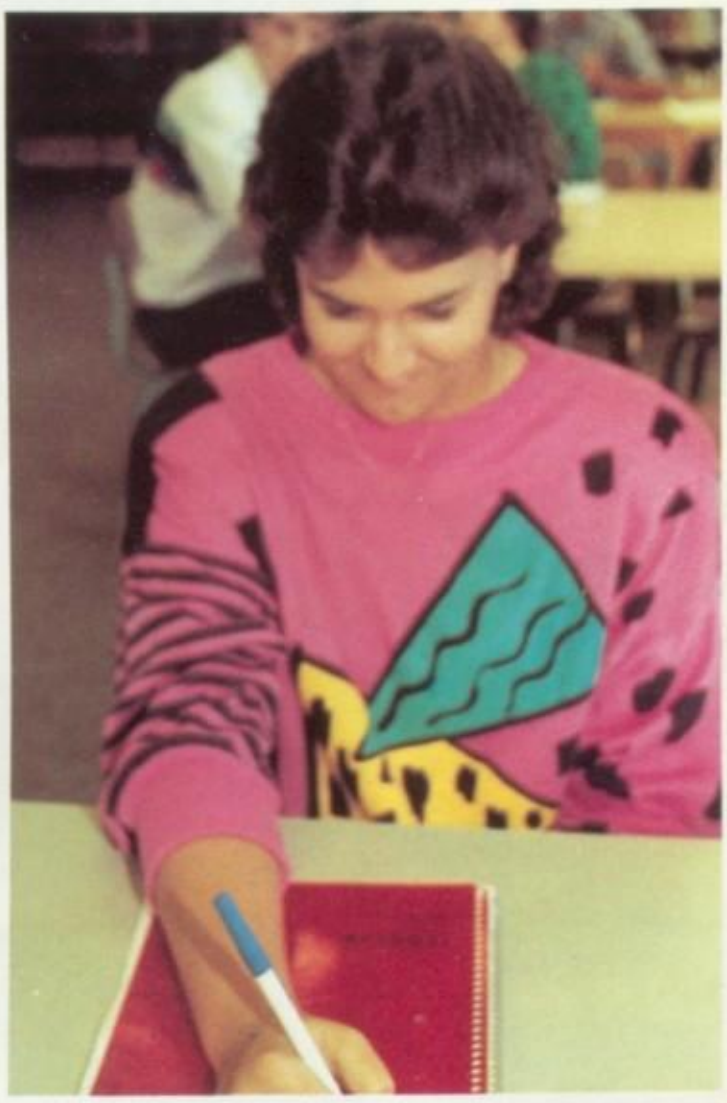
Teresa Morris

"I will remember cheering and playing for the Outlaws, and sharing the best times in my life with my friends."

Suzanne Walters

Chip Griffin has a touch of senioritis. Teresa Morris carries on the Outlaw spirit. While the others were busy taking pictures, Shana, Lisa, and Dale found time to have fun.
Sheila Heifner takes notes during senior library class.





"I'll remember my senior year as my happiest as far as life goes, easiest as far as learning goes, and a year filled with excitement about my plans for later in life."

Betsy Stokes

"The one thing that sticks out in my mind is how much we have changed since kindergarten."

Tammy Bagley

"I will remember all the good times and my friends."

These Ten are Tops

Every year at D.H.S. the top ten students are honored. This class rank is based on grade point. These students are the academic elite of the graduating class. Hard work and determination aided them in becoming the best of the best. We congratulate our top ten seniors and issue to them a special wish of good luck! (not pictured - Jon Dowdy)

Memories make it all worth while.

Our class flower is the white rose, our colors are pastel rainbow, and our motto is "We shape our lives, not by what we carry with us, but by what we leave behind." All that is on our sidewalk, but there are lots of memories not written in concrete — like the time in kindergarten when Dale Harris made his crashing debut by leaping through the glass door at recess. Tommy Fagen was a Superman fan, but he soon found out he was unable to leap tall buildings in a single bound when he jumped off the carport wall and broke his arm. Once Andy Norwood was found hiding in the ovens trying to escape the pressures of name that color!

In first grade we gave up our jumbo pencils and our red school house for a new elementary building several blocks away. Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Rooks helped us pass to second grade. Show and tell was the big highlight of that year, and boy did we tell. From third grade on we began an era of knuckle-down studying. Multiplication tables and spelling words were our main concern. Toward the end of third grade, the excitement of moving to the big building grew.

Before we knew it, we were ready to tackle junior high. We had to learn how to operate combination locks and fight our way to the bottom lockers all in the same breath. We also learned there were rules to be followed. Remember when the seventh grade basketball girls had to run because of the lip prints in the doctor's office? Then at last we were freshmen. We had to start at the bottom of the totem pole again, but at least we had a name. It seemed as if we'd never be seniors. Being a sophomore was just as bad. We never got any respect.

Finally we were getting somewhere when we became juniors. You know, the ones who never stagger. Who'll ever forget (even if you try) the play, THE WORM SHALL SQUIRM? There were long nights of rehearsal, writing our names on the backstage walls and even a paint fight while we decorated the set. Then came the Junior-Senior Prom of 1986. The best way to describe it was hard work. We spent hours hanging streamers, and that was the easy part. Moon Dog from TUX 99 was a success and we all had a great time.

Now it is 1987, our senior year. It has been the fastest year we have ever lived — from the flashy homecoming through spring break and the prom. Graduation is coming with blue and white gowns and the turning of tassles. We will go our separate ways, but we have realized that memories make it all worth while.

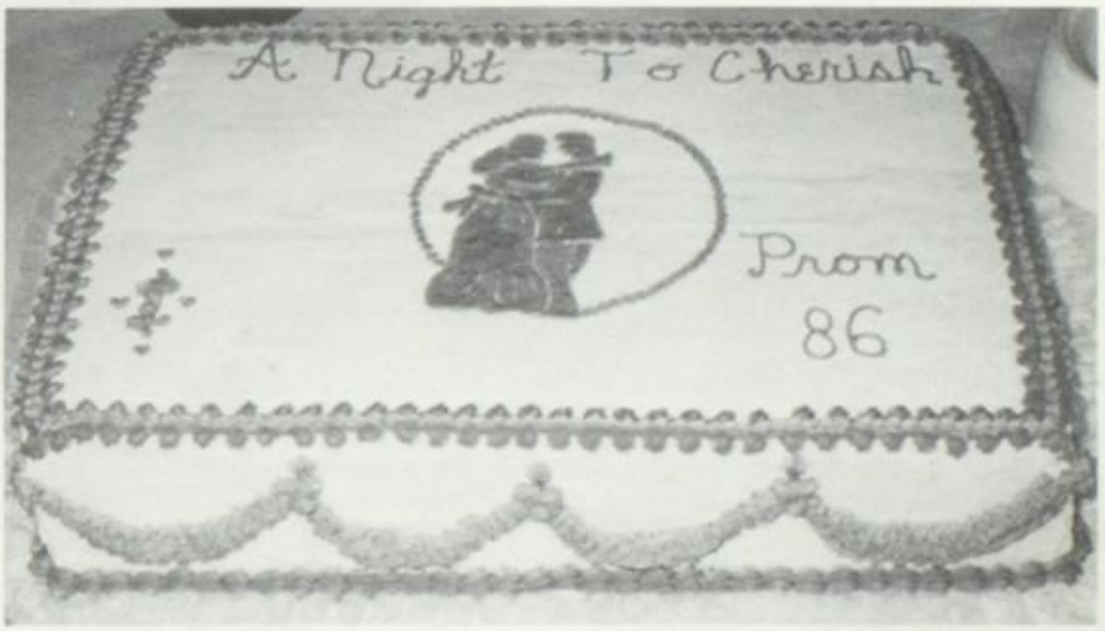
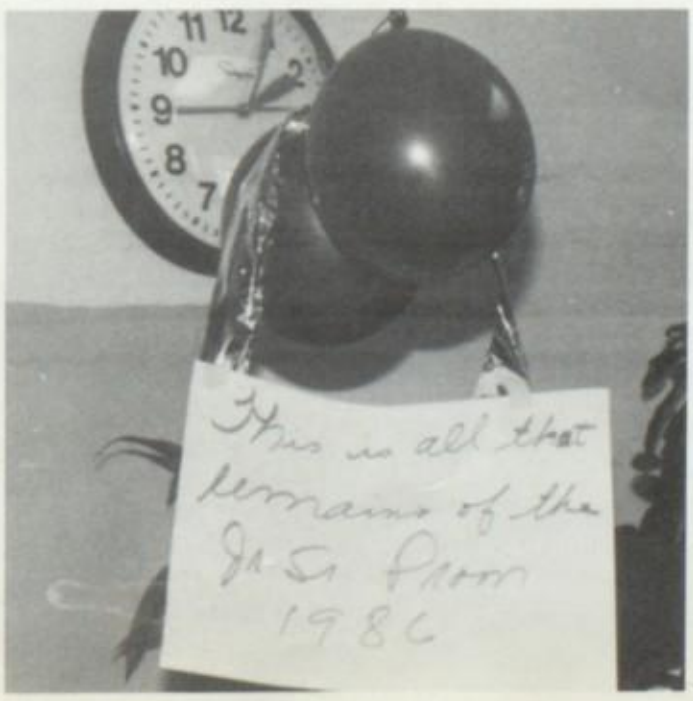
The junior play was presented March 14, 1986. The play was centered around two teenage boys trying to be high school principals. Junior class advisers were Shirley Wilson and Virginia Taylor.

The Theme of our 1986 Junior-Senior Prom was A Night to Cherish. The juniors chose Karla White, Michala Shaw, Laura Brooks, Kristi Hill, Scott McRae, Shane Moore, Jeff Tuttle and Jason Jackson as servers for the banquet. A special high point of our prom was the choosing of Prom King and Queen. Dewayne Holloway and Katrina Cannon reigned over the 1986 Prom.

Green Machine Music Sound Systems provided a terrific sound to jam to. Moon Dog from Tux 99 was the disc jockey. We danced to "Greatest Love of All", "Cherish", "Say You Say Me", and other hits til midnight. The only thing that remains from our balloons and streamers is the memory we all cherish from that special night.





A tired bunch of juniors put final touches on the glittered stars.

Sharon Kesterson provided our beautiful cake.

Shana, Betsy, and Gordon danced the night away.

These scraps and our memories are all that remain of our Junior-Senior Prom.

Seniors Celebrate!

"Can you believe next year it will be us up there?" That's what last year's juniors said. Well, this year is here and it's our time to celebrate. You may wonder just what are some of the advantages of being a senior. The list goes on and on. For one thing when we're late for class, the teachers don't gripe because they're glad we showed up. Those special one day vacations become more frequent. When we finally decide what college we're going to, we can clean out the garage just by throwing away all the mail we've collected from universities and the armed services. We can come to school tacky and half awake and no one says a word. Another special privilege is that treasured day we call skip day. On this day with permission from our parents,we just don't bother to show up. Some of us didn't consider going to Henderson's library to work on our research papers was cause to celebrate, but remember we did miss a full day of school. We enjoyed our senior year, and every one of us celebrated in his or her own way. We made the most of our last year at D.H.S.

The 1987 Senior Class went to Little Rock last spring to have a group picture made at the state capitol in conjunction with the Arkansas Sesquicentennial celebration. Those who participated were: Carol Archer, Tammie Friend, Melissa Chandler, Teresa Morris, Tammy Bagley, Karen Bray, Randall Allen, Chris Rider, Mary Pinkerton, Denia Tolleson, Jon Dowdy, Marty Young, Dale Harris, Sheila Heifner, Michael Jackson, Shirley Wilson (Adviser), Gordon Cannon, Shana Walston, Lisa Holley, Betsy Stokes, Susan Turner, Karen Frachiseur, Brad Garner, Kim Kirkpatrick, Charlene Miller, and Virginia Taylor (Adviser).

Presenting our 1987 Mr. and Miss D.H.S.

Karen Lee Frachiseur

I was in art class at the time the who's who results were announced. I was so excited I mispelled my own name. My next thought was what dress will I wear on picture day? Then, I thought about the great honor I had just been given by the students at DHS. I would like to thank the teachers and student body for honoring me in this way.

Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Frachiseur. She is a member of FBLA, FHA, secretary of the student council, treasurer of the NHS, and is on the yearbook staff.

Randall Wayne Allen

Being elected Mr. D.H.S. by my fellow classmates is a great honor. It was certainly a big surprise when I heard the election results, but one that highlights my years at D.H.S. Dierks High is a fine school and I am proud to have been a small part of it. I will always remember the friends I have made here, both students and teachers.

Randall is the son of Clifton and Brenda Ward and Wayne Allen. He is a three year letterman of the Outlaw football team.

Who's Who at D.H.S.

The who's who election process at Dierks High School began on September 4, 1986. The faculty and seniors submitted nominees for the final ballot. The top five nominees in each category were then presented to grades nine through twelve for a final vote on September 5. The results of the who's who elections are found on pages 18 - 29.

Photographs for the D.H.S. personalities were taken at the home of Leon and Rosie Deere. The annual staff, who's who, and class favorites would like to extend a special thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Deere for the use of their lovely home.

One last look at some other favorites.

Class favorites were not the only favorites at D.H.S. this year. There were movies, songs, and popular commercials too. A small survey revealed that TOP GUN and KARATE KID II were at the top of the list of best movies. The Lucky Dog commercial was enjoyed and imitated by Shana Walston, Todd Moore and Jeff Tuttle. Sheila Heifner enjoyed listening to Reba McEntire while Jason Jackson solemly stated, ''I have no favorites.'' THE COSBY SHOW was the favorite television program followed by MOONLIGHTING and MIAMI VICE. The favorite soap was DAYS OF OUR LIVES. ''Kiss,'' ''Papa Don't Preach'', ''True Colors'', and ''Glory of Love'' were a few popular songs. These were only a few of our favorites; the list could go on. In the final analysis, this past year was a good one for songs and movies.

Karen Bray was attended by Lana Hardin and Adam Smith.

Kim Kirkpatrick, Karla White, Vickie Barker and Stephanie Shaw served as royalty in Karen's court.

One last look at our homecoming royalty

Karen and Vickie waited anxiously before the ceremony.

Our queen, Karen Bray, was truly the star of the show!

Attendants, Adam and Lana, began their walk down the aisle.

The Outlaw track team members posed for a picture.

Jr. Outlaws listened to Coach McClure at half time.

The Outlaws stuck together when the going got tough.

"I have learned that you must work together with many people. Playing football has strengthened my self discipline."

Andy Norwood

"I learned to always show class while on the basketball court and to work together as a team."

Shana Walston

"I learned to play with the team and show good sportsmanship — to play with a good attitude toward the coach, officials, and my teammates."

Marty Young

The Jr. High Outlaws burst through the Victory sign.
Paula Played intensely against the Fouke Panthers.
Sheila headed into the arena of play.

Desire Determination

The word QUICK was branded in the minds of the Outlaws. Coach McClure stressed that quickness would be a factor in our favor. We reported in early during August. We were in excellent shape for our first Game against Glenwood. We were determined not to start this season the same as we had the one before. It was a hot muggy night, and everyone was a little nervous before the game. The nervousness disappeared, however, with the first blow. The seniors knew from experience what needed to be done and thought only of the job at hand. Even with all our determination, the half time score was 19-6, Glenwood's favor. That's the way the score stayed. The game was tough and the loss left us wondering what we were lacking.

We came back the next week to play the Perryville Mustangs. We had a great week of practice and we thought we had a good chance to win on Friday night. We were ready to play when we took the field. Perryville mounted a scoring drive the first time they had possession of the ball. After moving back and forth down the field, we finally got a drive started and scored. Turnovers proved to be our downfall, and we couldn't keep a substantial drive going the rest of the night. The score ended up 28-6, Perryville's favor.

The fifth week of the season brought us to Glen Rose. It also brought us another chance to turn our season around. The Beavers scored early in the first quarter. After that, we gained the momentum and marched down the field to tie up the score. The first half of the game was a tough twenty-four minutes of hard fought football. There were plenty of hard hits exchanged both ways during the course of the game. We never gained the advantage, and Glen Rose emerged victorious with a score of 26-6. It was a long bus ride home.

On Halloween night the Outlaws traveled to Foreman to take on the Gators. The week of practice had been better than usual. Nobody expected anything out of us though. Coach Simmons, however, made the statement before the game that he thought we would surprise some people. We set out to prove him right. The Outlaws stayed close until late in the third quarter. We played better than we had played in a long time, but it wasn't enough for a victory. When the season was over, the team was left grasping for answers and wondering why the season had ended as it had. But maybe we need to remind ourselves that football is still, after all, only a game — and while it may be important at Dierks High School, what we make of ourselves and the kind of men we become is far more important.

We began with two-a-day workouts.

The booster club is an organization which consists of the parents of D. H. S. students and those towns people and businesses which support us. Even when the win-loss record didn't look good, these people were still in the bleachers cheering for us.

The booster club Moms organized meals for the players and cheerleaders before the home games. The booster club not only supported us in spirit, but they also gave us financial backing. They bought each senior football player a jersey, sent the football team to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, and the basketball team to Dallas for a Razorback basketball game.

This year's booster club president was Steve Lites. Thanks to everyone who supported us and encouraged us during a tough year.

Julie Keaster was first runner up to the booster club queen.

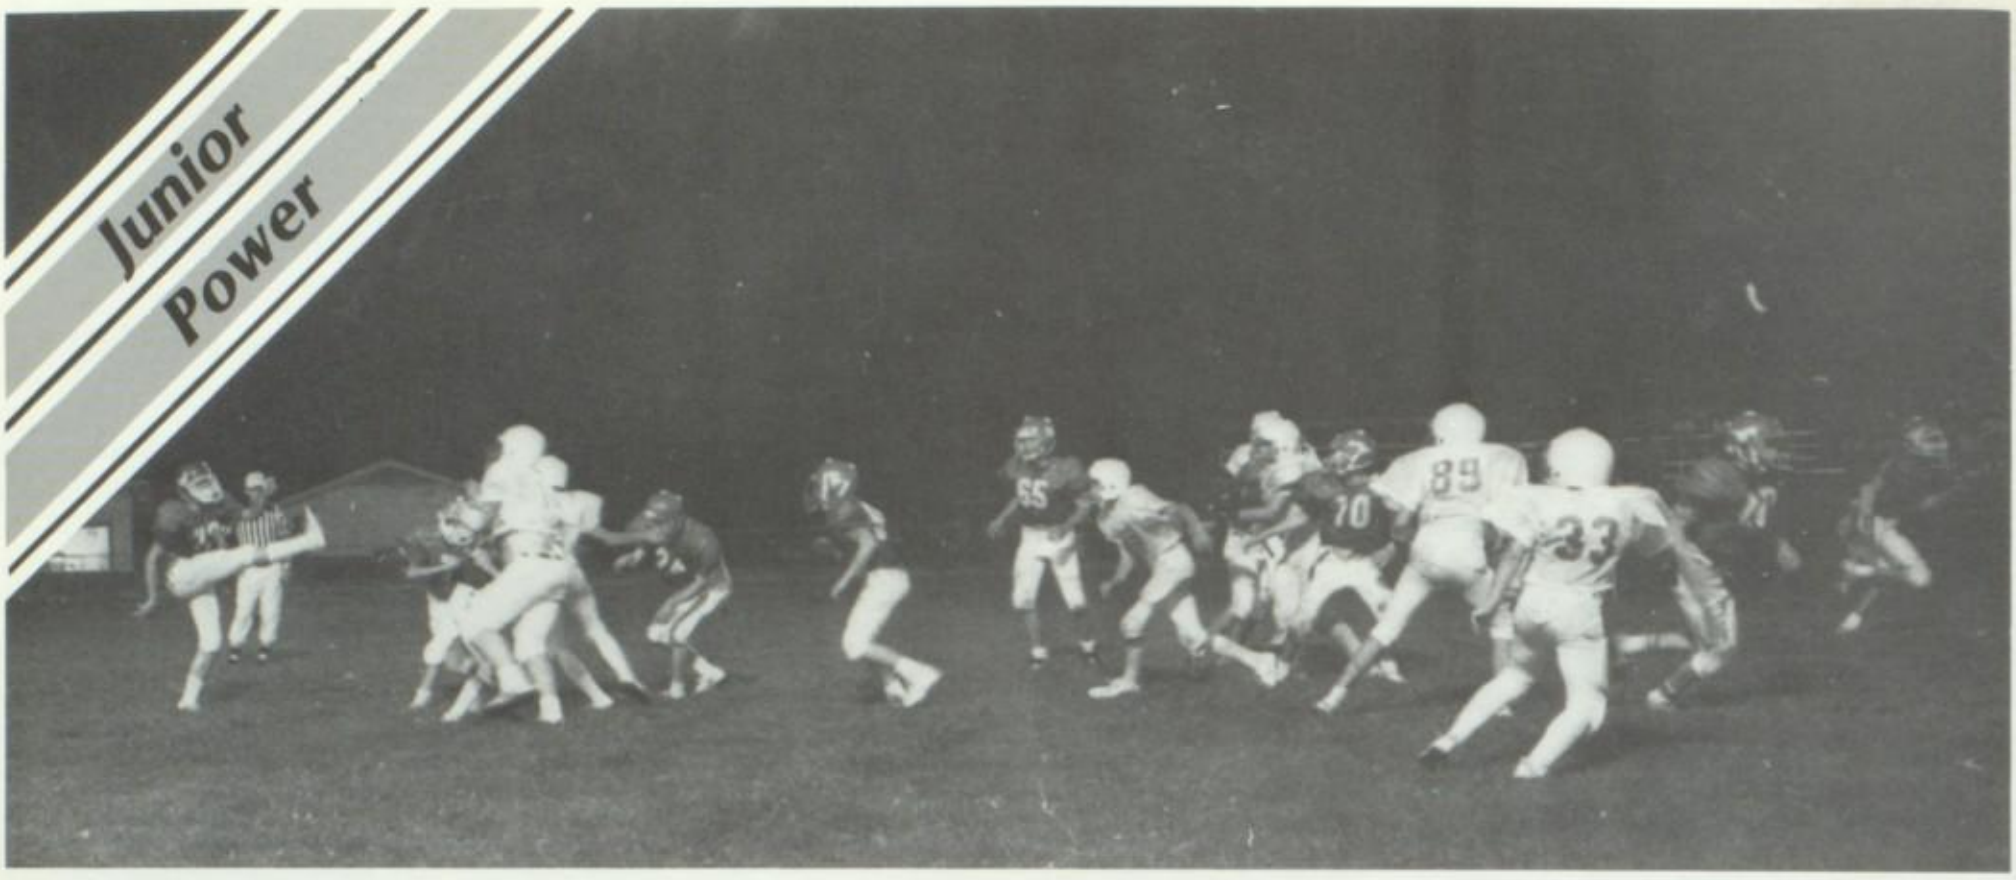
Junior Power



This past year was a disappointing one for the Junior Outlaw football team and fans. Key injuries played a major part as the young Outlaws dropped eight straight games. However, according to coach Simmons, next year promises to be better with several returning lettermen and that Outlaw spirit that forever lives in each of us.

Senior High Cheerleaders: Rhonda Stokes, Becky Johnson, Michala Shaw, Vickie Sharp, Shana Walston, Kerry Mounts, Laura Brooks, Karen Bray, Suzanne Walters - Captain.

The senior high squad began practice early in the summer.

To many people, cheerleading only means being in the way of the sideline walkers on the track. The cheerleaders, however, were very special girls. There were nine senior high cheerleaders including the mascot, Becky Johnson, and also nine junior high cheerleaders. It was not an easy task to boost the morale at D.H.S. this year.

The work began before the girls were even selected as cheerleaders. To be eligible to tryout, they had to have a 2.00 grade average, and senior high candidates had to get a petition signed by students and teachers. Then they waited and practiced until tryout day. Every girl was on edge as she waited her turn to go out on the gym floor and show the judges she had what it took to be a cheerleader.

After tryouts were over, the real work began. There were many long and tiring hours of practice, sweat, and sometimes disagreements. Thanks for the hard work and dedication. Also thanks to Mrs. Wanda and Mrs. Eudy for all their time they put in.

Captain Suzanne Walters, rolled up the victory sign.

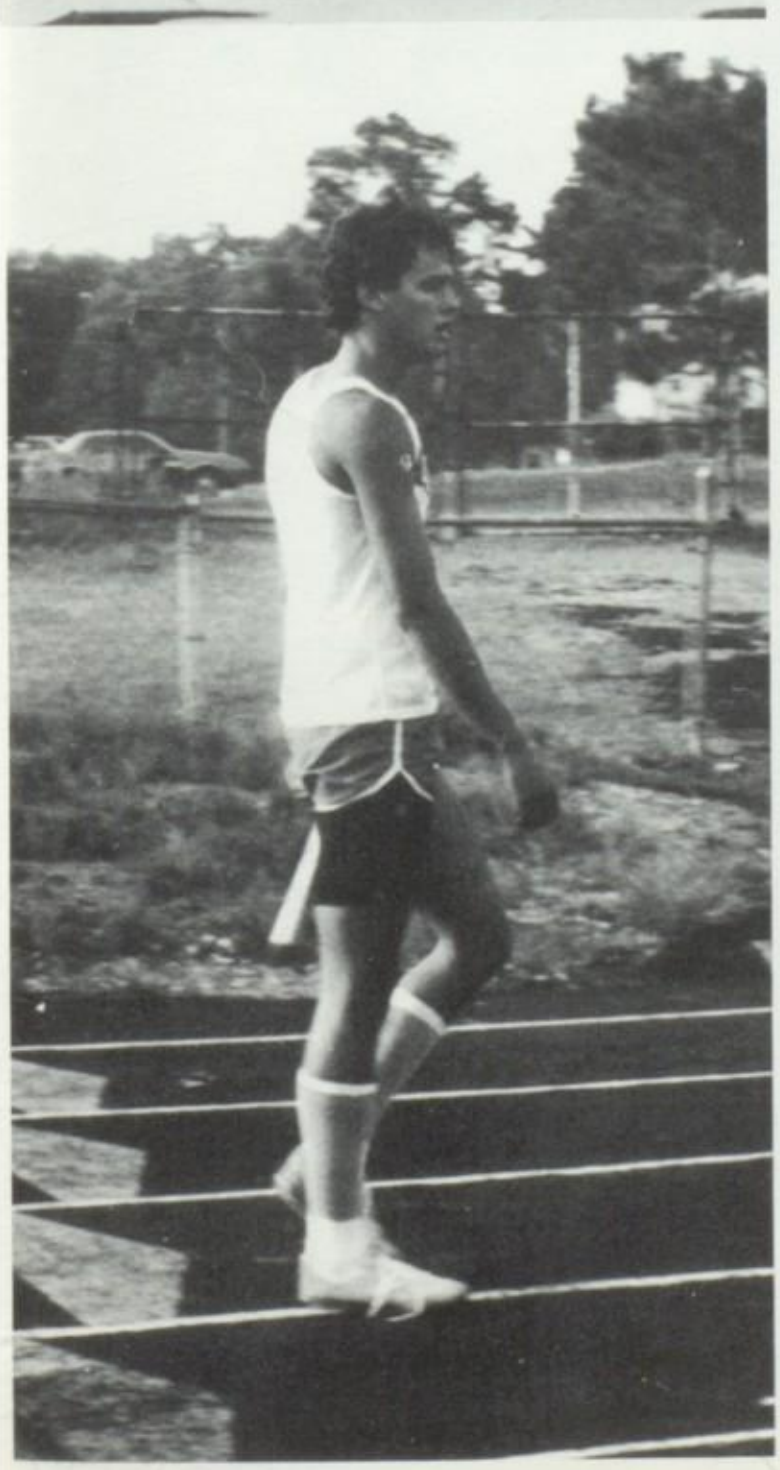
On The Run

The track team took a break at District in Prescott.

Toby breezed by the finish line running the 100 yard dash.

Lavel placed 1st at District in the mile run.

Coach Stapleton explained to Laura the thrills of victory and the agonies of defeat.



Brad winds up to throw the disc.

Rusty gives Jeff last minute advice before he prepares to run.

Andy marks off his steps while waiting his turn on the relay team.

The gun went up and Clay was ready for a quick get a way.

My favorite class is science. I like science because Coach Kissire is very interesting.

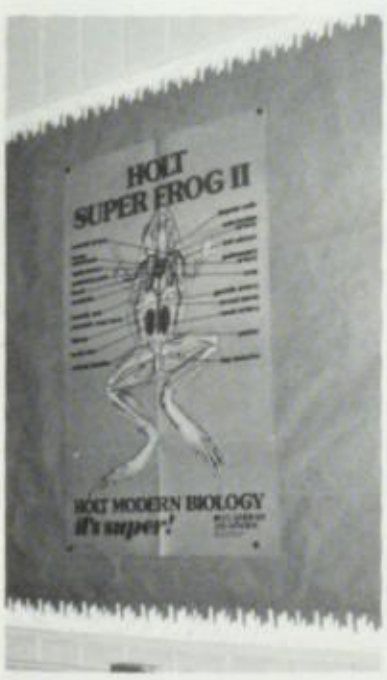
Sandra Morris

My favorite class is basketball. I look forward to it everyday and I enjoy it very much.

Sandi Stone

My favorite class is science also. I like science because it is interesting and Mr. Turner is funny.

Michala Shaw



Rhonda and Cindy worked steadily on their art reports. Christy and Gary examined their frog in Biology. Superfrog lives again.

My favorite class is math. Math is very interesting, and I like studying it.

Chad McRae

Physics is my favorite class. It is interesting, and it applies math and science together as one.

Teenia Buck

Art is my favorite class. It is very interesting and educational.

Language Arts

Tony found the book amusing.

The tenth grade English class read To Kill A Mockingbird.

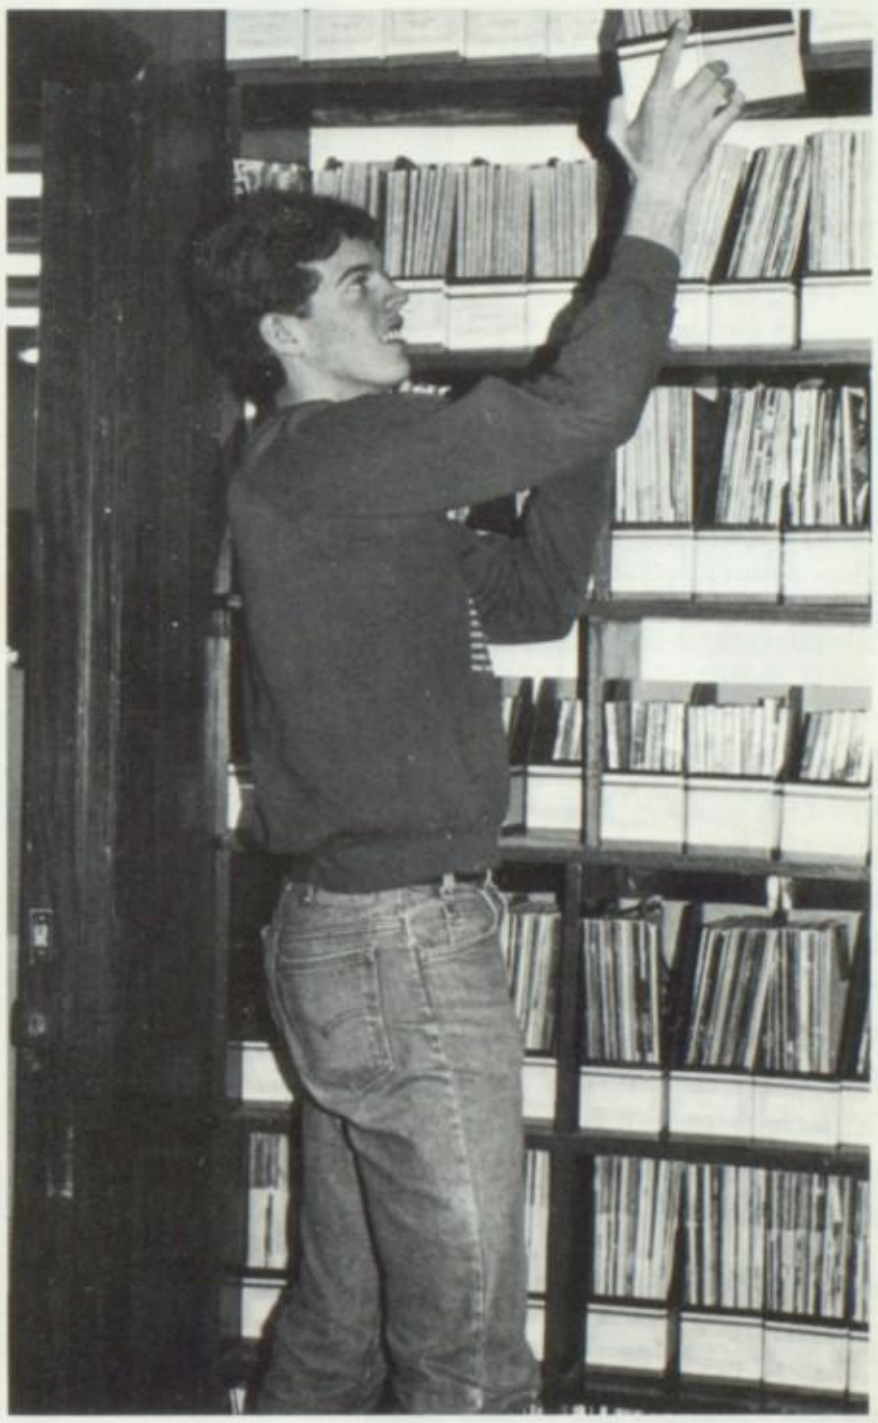
Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Seale discuss their classes.

Speech

The Speech class, taught by Mrs. Camille Norwood, enables students to communicate better in public. During class they research their topics, then give speeches, and later in the year they will be debating. The students learn several types of speeches such as informative and persuasive. The speeches are sometimes quite interesting. JoAnn Gilbert showed the class how to groom a cow for a fair. Some of their activities are attending plays, operas, and workshops.

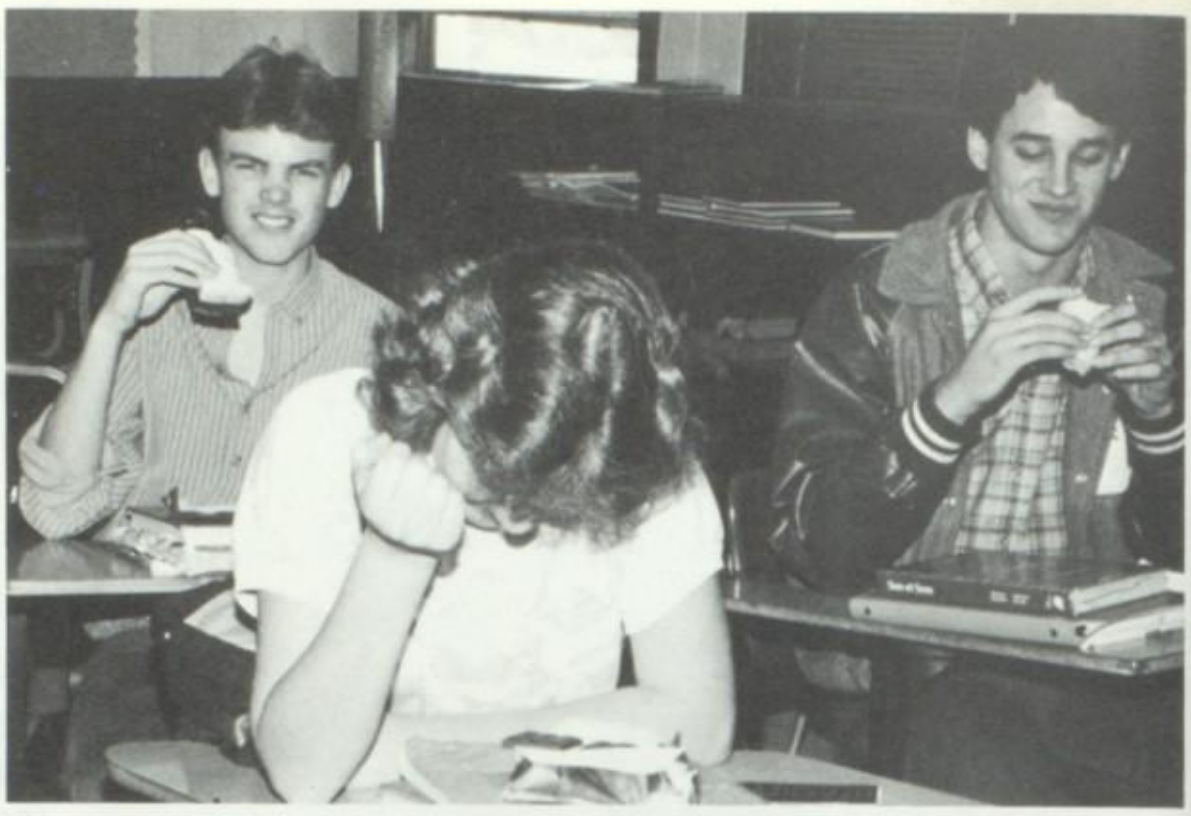
The class relaxed between speeches.

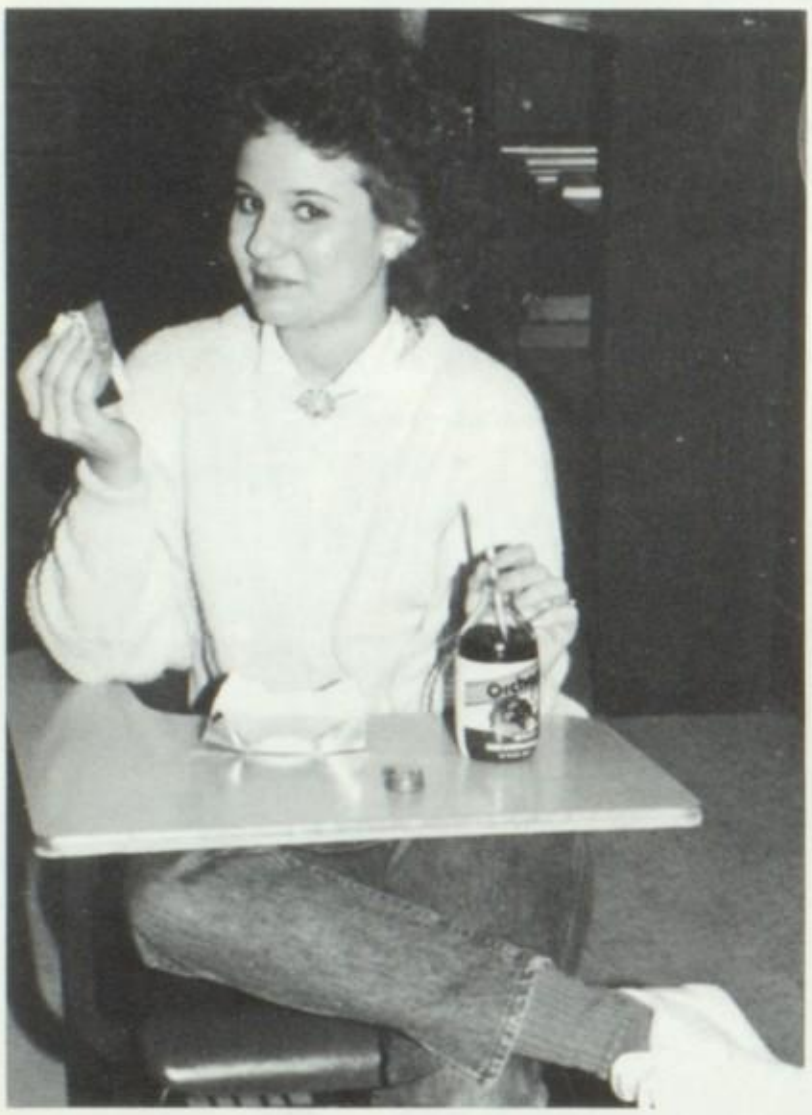
Kevin Powell researched information for his speech.

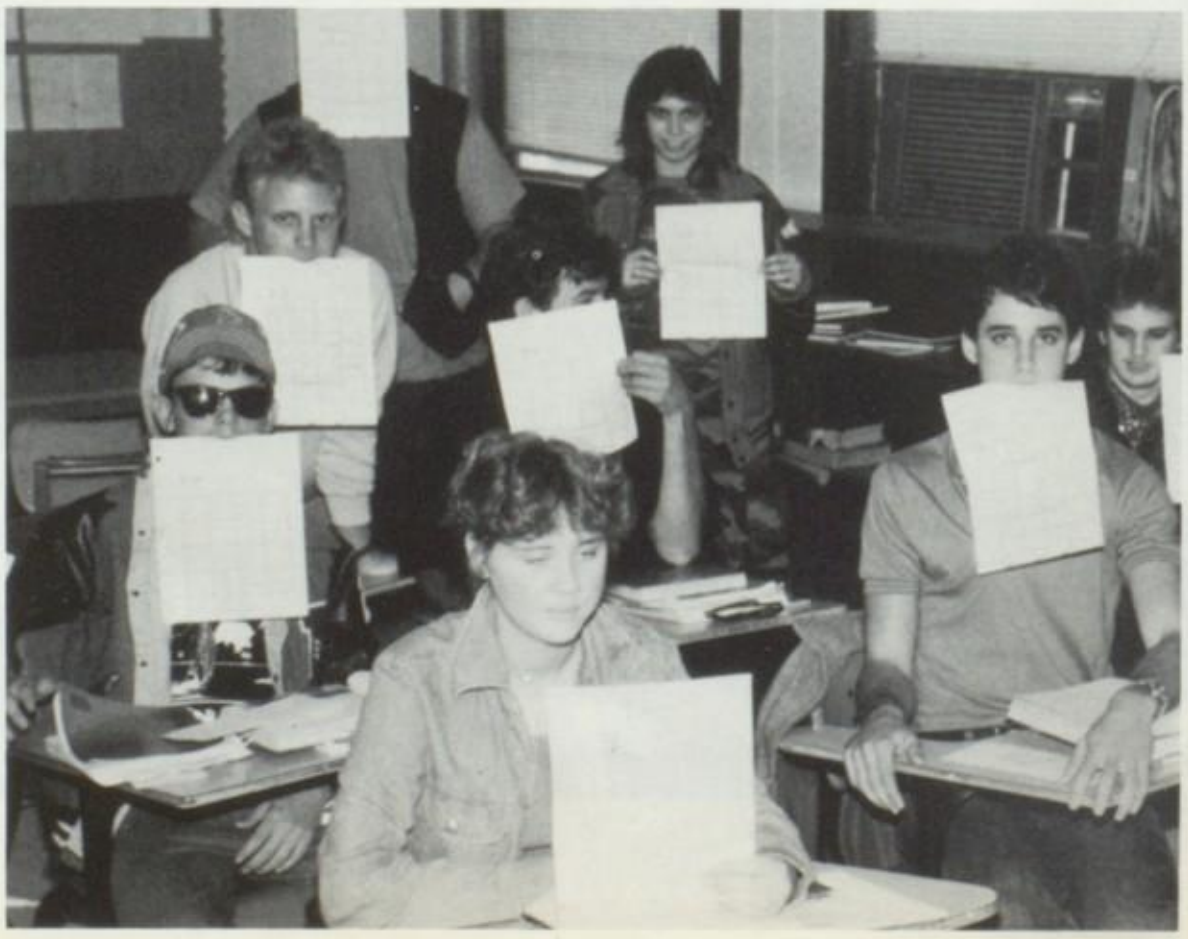


Michael gathered magazine articles for his next speech.

French







French I and II, taught by Sandra Stapleton, provide students with various aspects of the French culture. French I stresses the basic vocabulary, while French II deals, in detail, with fluency and proper pronunciation. Scott McRae said he will remember the chocolate sandwiches, while Sandi Parker said she will remember the French customs the most. When French students are asked "Parlez-vous francais?" they can truthfully answer "oui."

Scott McRae does not like chocolate sandwiches!

Betsy Stokes thinks grape soda is a French drink.

Jason, pass the candy please.

French I students beg to play bingo.

Language Arts

Language is one of the most vital parts of a student's education. English classes are required in grades 7-12. Research papers, book reports, essays, and projects are assigned to students in this department. Shana will never forget those legendary Canterbury Tales, while Karen Bray is still in an emotional upheaval because of her research paper. Underclassmen will always remember the pages they were forced to "speed read" at the last minute on their book reports for Mrs. Norwood. Ms. Gilbert's quiet humor helps students enjoy language while they are being taught the skills of junior and senior English. Mrs. Brenda Dickerson is the new English teacher for the lower grades. English may not be the most popular subject in school, but dedicated teachers make it bearable.

Dana looks washed out after reading Canterbury Tales.

Dale and Vicki prove you can smile while doing research papers.

Hey Leslie, did we have any homework last night?

I take it Mrs. Dickerson is not in the room.

Math

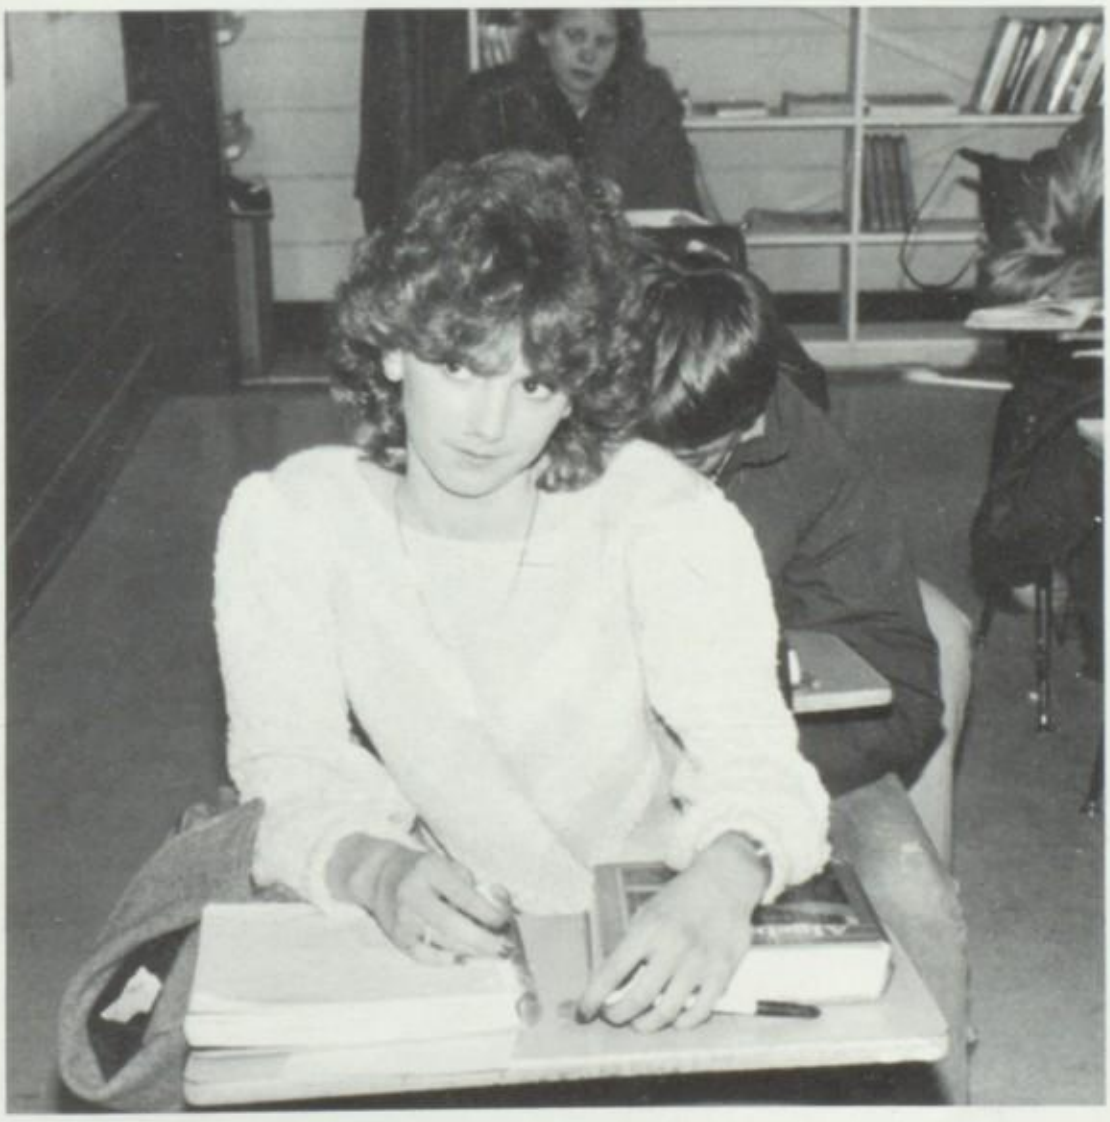
Karla helped Andy with his advanced math homework.

"Lori, is class almost over?"

Math

Everyone knows what two plus two equals, but it takes an advanced math student to understand E=MC².

Jo Ann Gilbert said, "Advanced Math has really drained my brain." "Algebra II was a lot of hard work," stated Greg Seale. Most students agreed when Casey Chambers said, "It was a challenge, but very exciting." "Math's my least favorite subject, but I did learn a lot and I know it will help me in college," said Brad Garner. Mrs. Henriellen Lawrence and Mrs. Lynda Moore are the math teachers at D.H.S. Even though math is a hard class, and it might strain your brain, it really is worth taking.

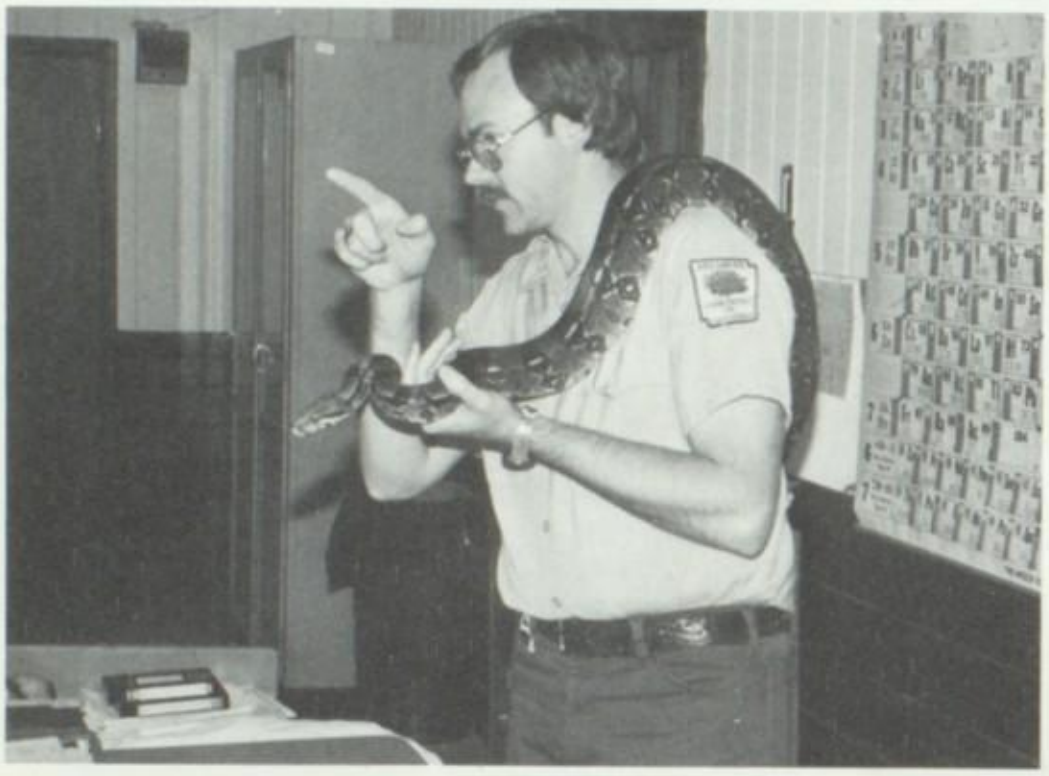


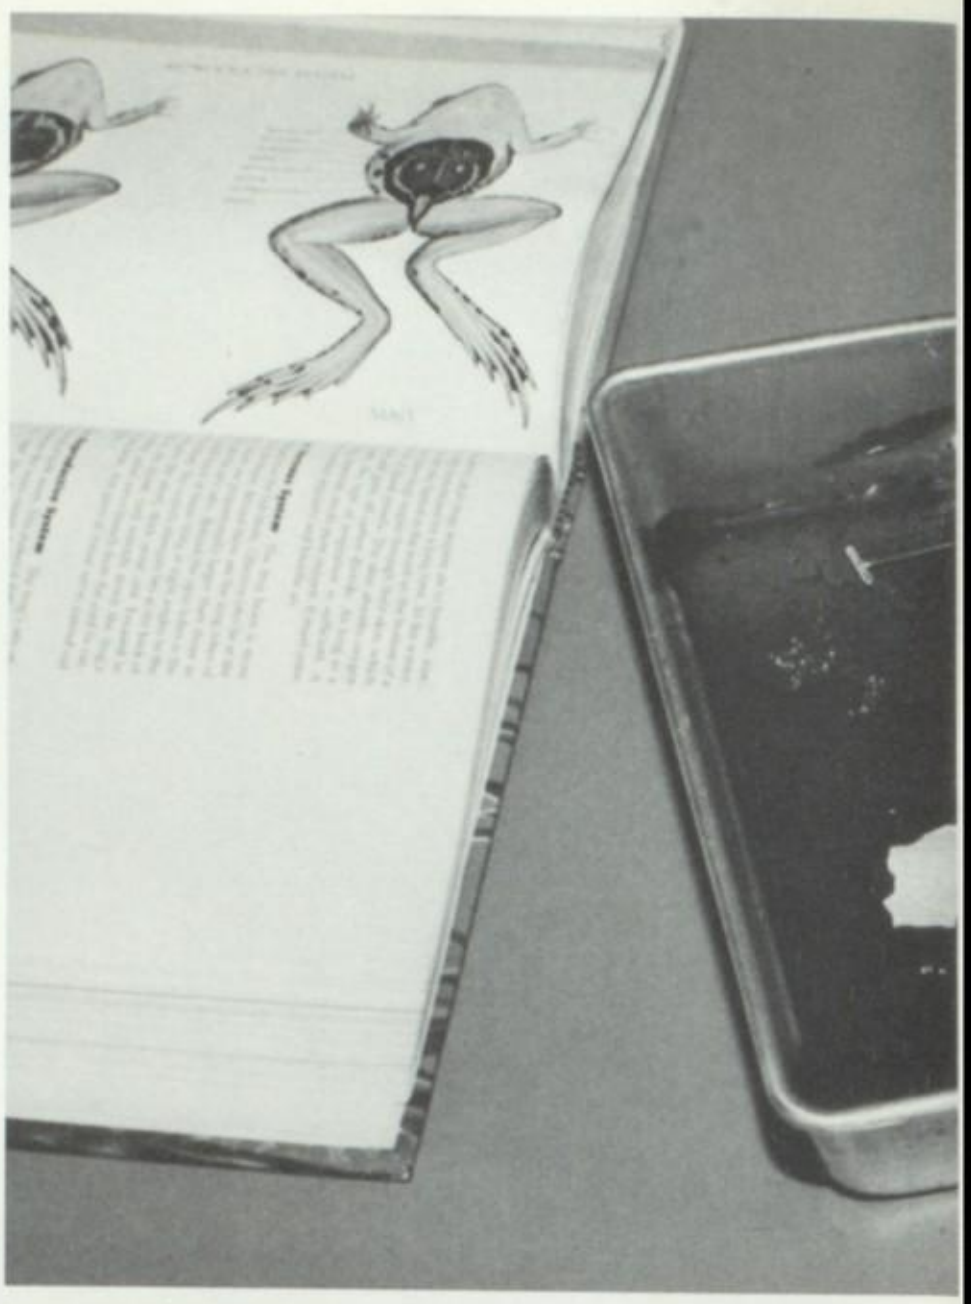
Mrs. Lawrence showed Laura and Kevin a physics experiment.

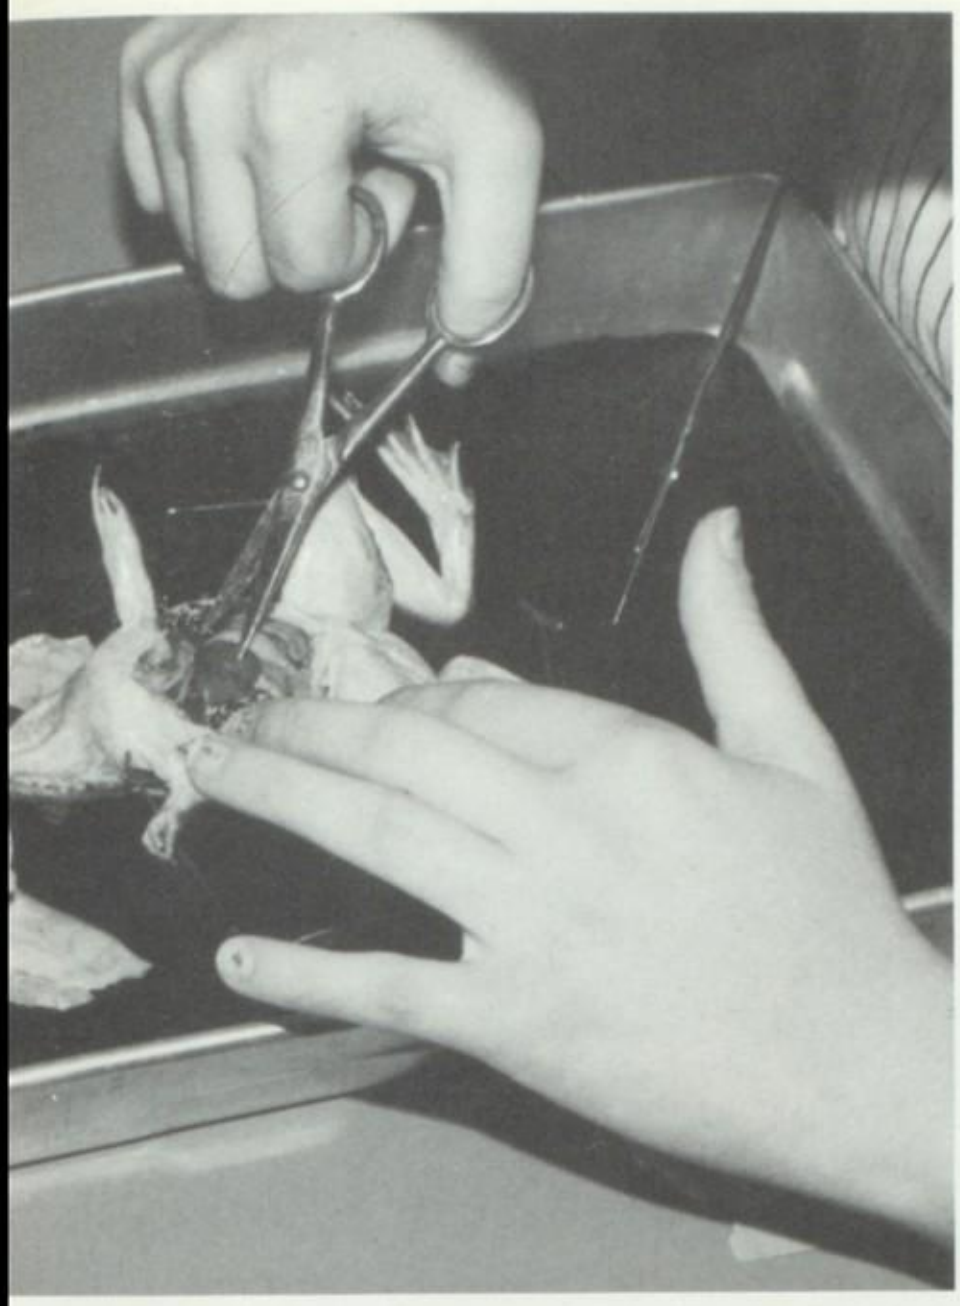
Kristi has more on her mind than Algebra I.

Mrs. Moore prepares to teach her class.

Science







Science

Science teaches us what makes the world go round. Students at D.H.S. can choose from: Physics, taught by Mrs. Henriellen Lawrence, Biology and General Science, taught by Mr. Ronald Turner, and Earth Science, taught by Mrs. Virginia Taylor.

Vivian Young said, "Disecting frogs was my favorite part of Biology."

Many students seem to agree, science class is a fun place to be.

Disecting the frog by the book.

Fred shows Mikey which way to go.

Vickie and Eva disected a cute little frogie.

Mr. Turner demonstrated how to use a microscope.

Social Studies

Social Studies started off on a different beat with Street Law being offered second semester and American Government stepping down to elective status. Edna Cox, who taught these classes, is the head of the department and the only full time social studies teacher at D.H.S. TIME magazine was substituted as a test book in Coach McDonald's Global Studies. Mr. Stapleton took time out from his counseling position to teach American history to eighth graders. Coach Norwood's civic classes may not have been L.A. LAW, but he got the point of how our government works across to his students.

Social Studies

Mr. Stapleton was eager to help students.

JoAnn checked out the U.S. in 1854.

Teresa needed some advice about history.

Who is that masked patriotic student?

Mr. McDonald took his classes seriously.

Suzanne must have studied for her test.

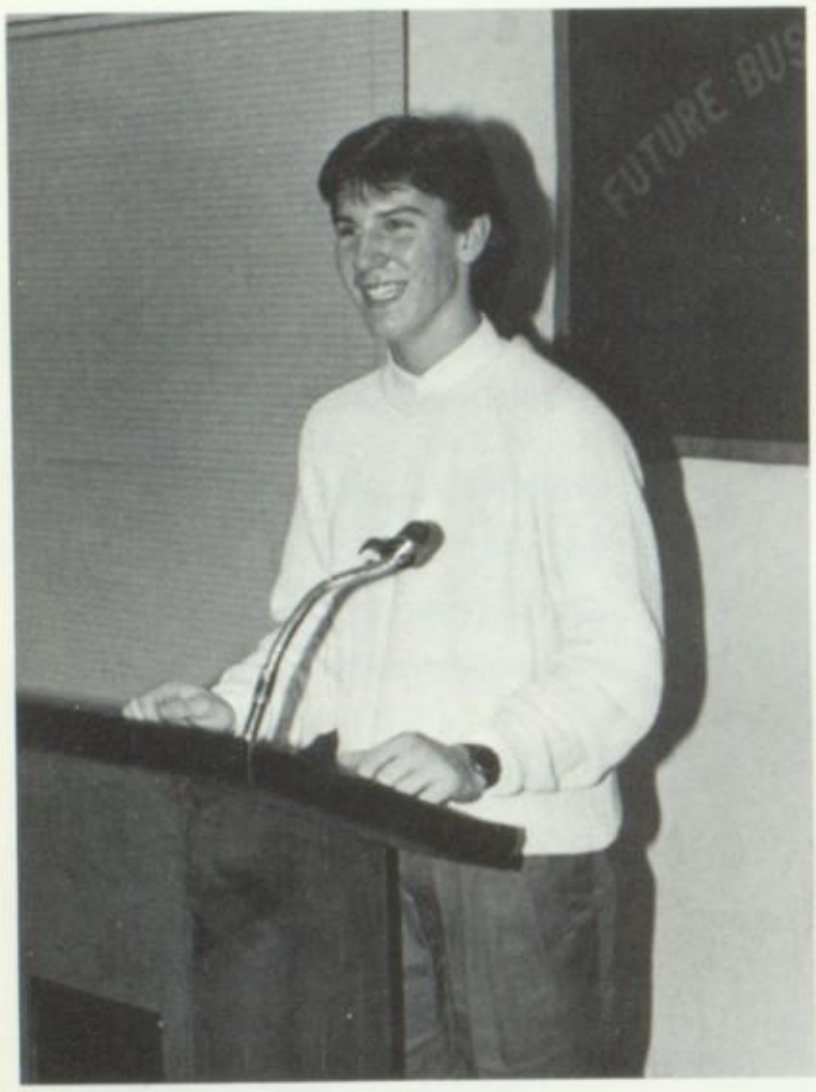
Vocational Education



Business courses at D.H.S. are taught by Shirley Wilson and Marlene Bevill. The following business education courses are offered: accounting, Typing I, computers, and O.T.L.

Brenda Deere said, "O.T.L. has really taught me a lot about business. Typing and office machines have really been a great help to me." Karen Frachiseur said, "Accounting has taught me more about business." Laura Holloway said, "Typing has helped me prepare for my future plans in business."

F.B.L.A. has helped the Howard County foster children at Christmas and has also helped the March of Dimes.

One of the club's main purposes is to develop leadership ability. Another main objective is to encourage students to participate in testing programs by the state. Mrs. Wilson said, "One of my desires is to help prepare my students to be outstanding leaders of tomorrow."

Paula burned up the keys on the I.B.M.

Vocational Education

The instructor of the home economics department is Mrs. Virginia Taylor. Several home economics courses are offered such as clothing, family living, foods, and Home Ec. I. These classes are offered to help the student understand the importance of homemaking.

Randall Allen said, "Family living class was a very enjoyable learning experience." President of Future Homemakers of America, Susan Turner, said, "I have enjoyed working with Mrs. Taylor and other F.H.A. members. It has helped improve my leadership potential." Dana Linville is a student in Home Ec. I. She said, "Mrs. Taylor has taught me to respect other people."

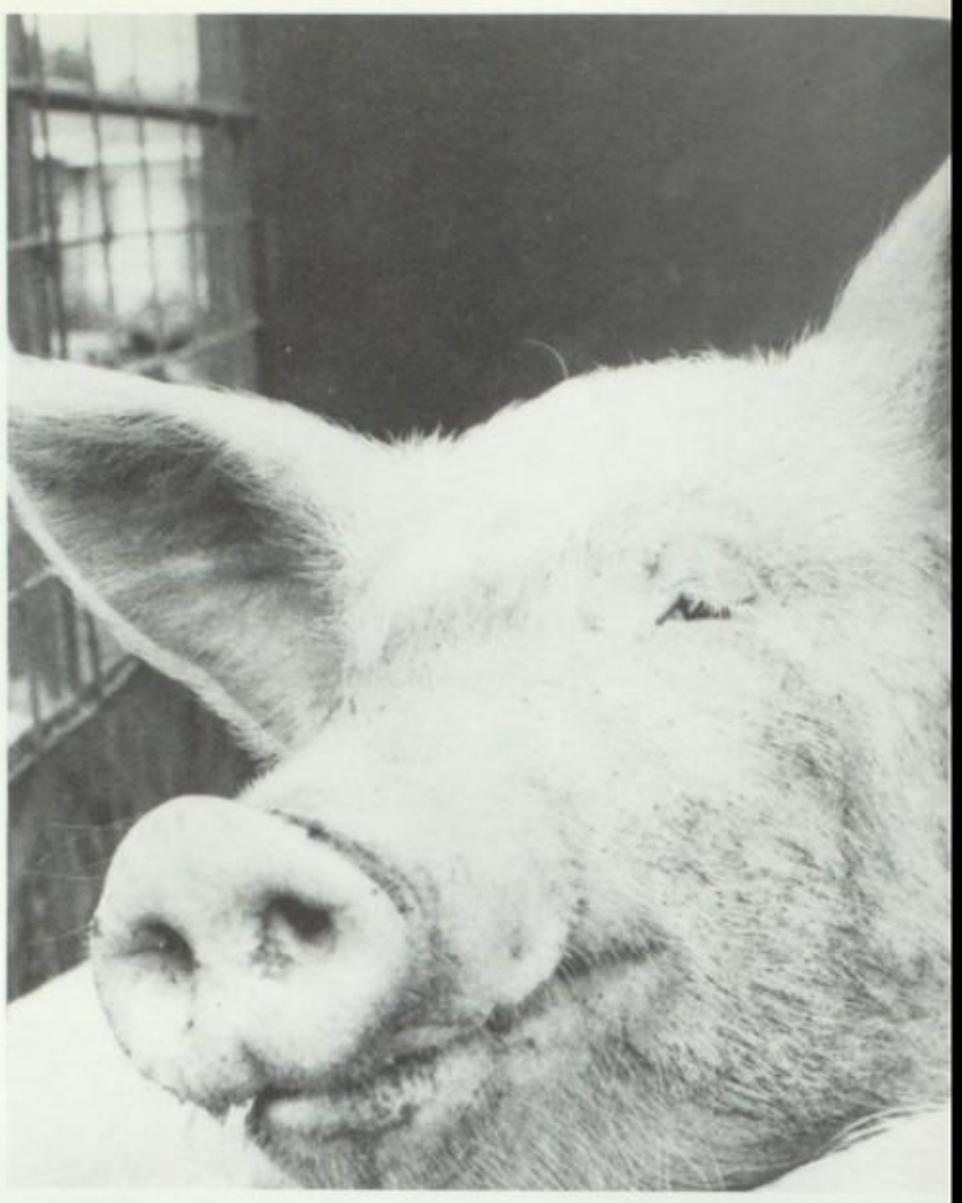
Vocational Education



Mr. Morris McRae is the instructor of agri classes and the adviser of the FFA. FFA has several projects throughout the year. Aside from running the Coke machine, FFA members also sold fruit. These projects enabled them to attend various conventions and contests. FFA members raised livestock, which they entered in the Howard County Fair at Nashville, the 3rd District Livestock Show at Hope, and the State Fair at Little Rock.

Some of the objectives of the agricultural department are to teach students to work for themselves and to stress leadership.

Anyone who has taken art knows that it is a great class. Students learn how to draw, paint, carve wood, and they also get to talk, unlike most of the classes.

Mrs. Turner entered student paintings in the Howard County Fair. Jon Dowdy, Beverly Ward, Tammy Bagley, and Shane Moore were just a few who placed.

My favorite part of art is painting,'' said Kim Kirkpatrick. Greg Seale said he liked drawing the best and art gave him a sense of accomplishment. Shane Moore said his favorite part was the teacher. ''Mrs. Turner is the best,'' he said.

It doesn't matter if a person has two left thumbs, Mrs. Turner will teach him how to make beautiful works of art. It seems everyone enjoys art.

P.E.

Physical Education is taught by Gene Simmons, Bob Kissire, and Robin McClure. Students participated in hockey, volleyball, track, tumbling, and basketball this year. Junior Brenda Deere was asked what she remembered most about physical education. Her response was, "running." Anyone who has sweated out a semester of P.E. will probably agree with Brenda.

Kevin Fox jogs around the track in P.E. class.

Brad Garner and Denia Tolleson make the most out of health class.

Drivers Ed. Health

Drivers Education teachers Doug Norwood and Robin McClure place their lives in the hands of unskilled teenage drivers everytime they get in the drivers education car. Each student is required to take nine weeks of classroom instruction. On the road training for each student is limited according to the number of students in the class. Not only do students learn to drive safely, but also they learn automobile maintenance.

Todd Moore takes Coach McClure out for a spin.

These seniors direct their attention to the camera.

Allan McDonald retired from coaching to become Mr. McDonald in the classroom. One of the classes he teaches is health. This class consists entirely of seniors who must pass health to meet the state standards. His students will never forget the day when Mr. McDonald gave them each a bean and told them it was their unborn child. The class may sound like fun and games but all seniors advised watch out for the tests.

Juniors Turn Sweet Sixteen

These past few months on assorted dates, juniors experienced the satisfaction of turning sweet sixteen. One by one we took our driver's test and we moved on to the court house to make it legal. We were added to the select group who waste their gas somewhere between Bobby's and Kerr McGee.

Now we could run to the store for our moms and ask for the car on weekends. We had finally outgrown the getting dropped off and being picked up stage of life.

Turning sixteen didn't give us all the freedoms we expected, but it did hit us with new responsibilities. Staying under the speed limit and between the lines is not always fun, but it is necessary.

The Ford Thunderbird was a popular car. Kristi Hill and friends show off their driver's license.

Freshman fall for fads

Several Freshman sported the boz haircut this year. The boz was inspired by Brian Bosworth, No. 44, a linebacker for Oklahoma. The cut consisted of shaving the side of ones head, leaving a patch down the middle and ending in a "V" in the back. This may not have been a stylish cut in everyone's eyes, but most people at least agreed the haircut was interesting.

Clothes inspired by soft drinks were also famous this year. Coca-Cola led the way, followed close behind by Pepsi. Who would have thought we would have ended up paying $35.00 or $40.00 to advertise for Coca-Cola and Pepsi.

Brooks Horn and Heath Britt modestly model the boz.

Coke was definitely it this year.

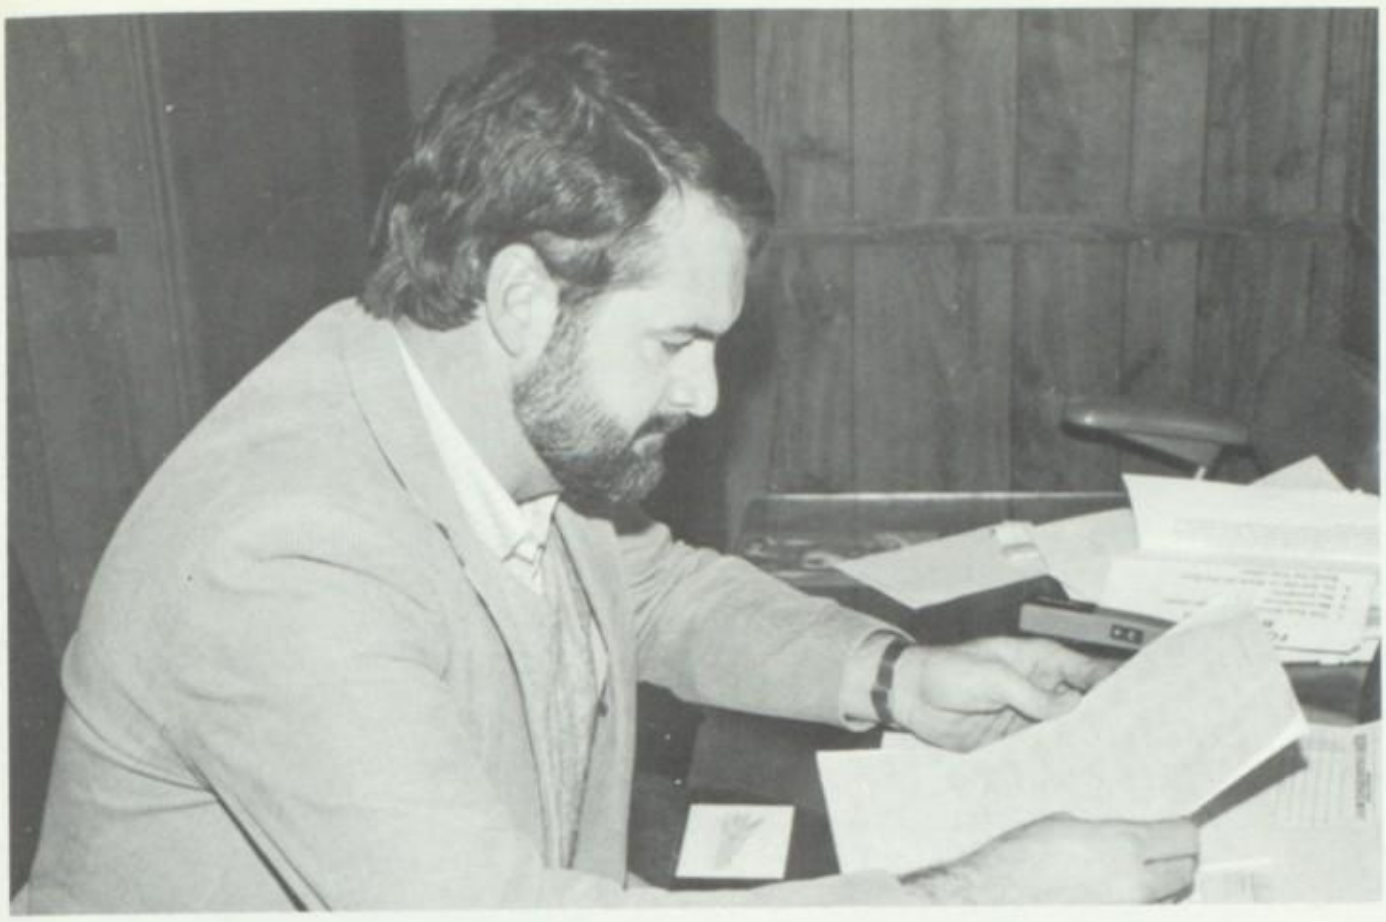
They work behind the scenes



On February 3, 1987, Mr. Wayne Clark resigned (effective June 30, 1987) as superintendent of Dierks schools. Mr. Clark has served in this school system for the past 17 years. We will miss him here in Dierks, but we wish him all the best.

James White first served on the board in 1977. He was re-elected in 1981.

Dwight Kitchens has been on the board since 1970.

Teachers hear excuses, excuses.

For students who don't have their homework, the dog ate it just won't work anymore. Teachers are tired of hearing this boring overused excuse. If a student is going to have to use an excuse, he may as well make it good. Here are a few of the more creative excuses that teachers may not have believed, but did at least find amusing.

DeAnn Stuart didn't have her science notes because while she was cleaning the pool she laid them on the slide and they ended up in the water.

Mrs. Stapleton got a blank piece of paper one day. The student said he left it on the dash of his car and the sun faded it!

Mrs. Norwood heard, "I left it at the hospital." MORE than once!

Mrs. Bevell said, "The best one I ever heard was a girl didn't have her homework because her baby sister flushed it."

Michala Shaw claimed to just have completely forgotten about her general science test.

I left it at home or it's in my other notebook were commonly used excuses in Mrs. Cox's class.

Excuses weren't confined to high school. A boy in Mrs. Johnson's fifth grade class thought up a whopper. He said he went to Switzerland over the weekend and left his books on the plane!

Council Members Become Examples

The Student Council tried to raise school spirit this year. As in the past, they sponsored spirit week. Each day gave students an opportunity to show the Outlaws they supported them by dressing up in the required garb. Each class participated in a contest to see which grade had the most supportive Outlaw fans. The senior class barely nosed out the juniors for the number one spot. The Student Council also bought a bulletin board for the hall which is used to announce school events. Keeping the campus clean and unlittered is another accomplishment of the Council. It is an honor to be selected to the Student Council. Officers were selected by the student body who voted on the candidates after a week of campaigning and speech making. Mrs. Cox, the Student Council adviser, was always busy trying to help the students of D.H.S. be the best they could be.

The Honors Serve Society

To be chosen as a member of National Honor Society is one of the highest honors at D.H.S. A student has to have a 3.00 grade average to be nominated. Then the teachers vote on the nominees on the basis of leadership, character, scholarship and service. After the members were chosen, an initiation process began. The senior members chose three days during which the nominees had to dance, sing, carry on treasure hunts, dress up in ridiculous costumes, and have egg rolling races.

National Honor Society is a service organization. As one project this year, they provided food and refreshments for the coaches and referees at the Christmas tournament.

March to the Rhythm of the Outlaw Band

The band started marching early in the summer for the Pine Tree Festival Parade. After the Festival, they began getting ready for football season. There were lines painted on the streets in front of the school, 10 yards apart to practice marching when they couldn't use the football field. Marching wasn't the only thing practiced; they also practiced their music. The band livened up pep rallies with fast-paced, new, popular songs that all the kids liked. After football season, marching was still on their minds. They marched in the Nashville Christmas Parade. Concert season began after football was over. A Christmas Concert was given in December, and the band members practiced after school to get ready. When that event was over, all the practicing began for the next concert held in the spring. Between concerts, there were All Region try-outs. Jon Dowdy, Kevin Whaley, and Christy Parker made the All Region band.

Joey Bailey got out his music for the next song.

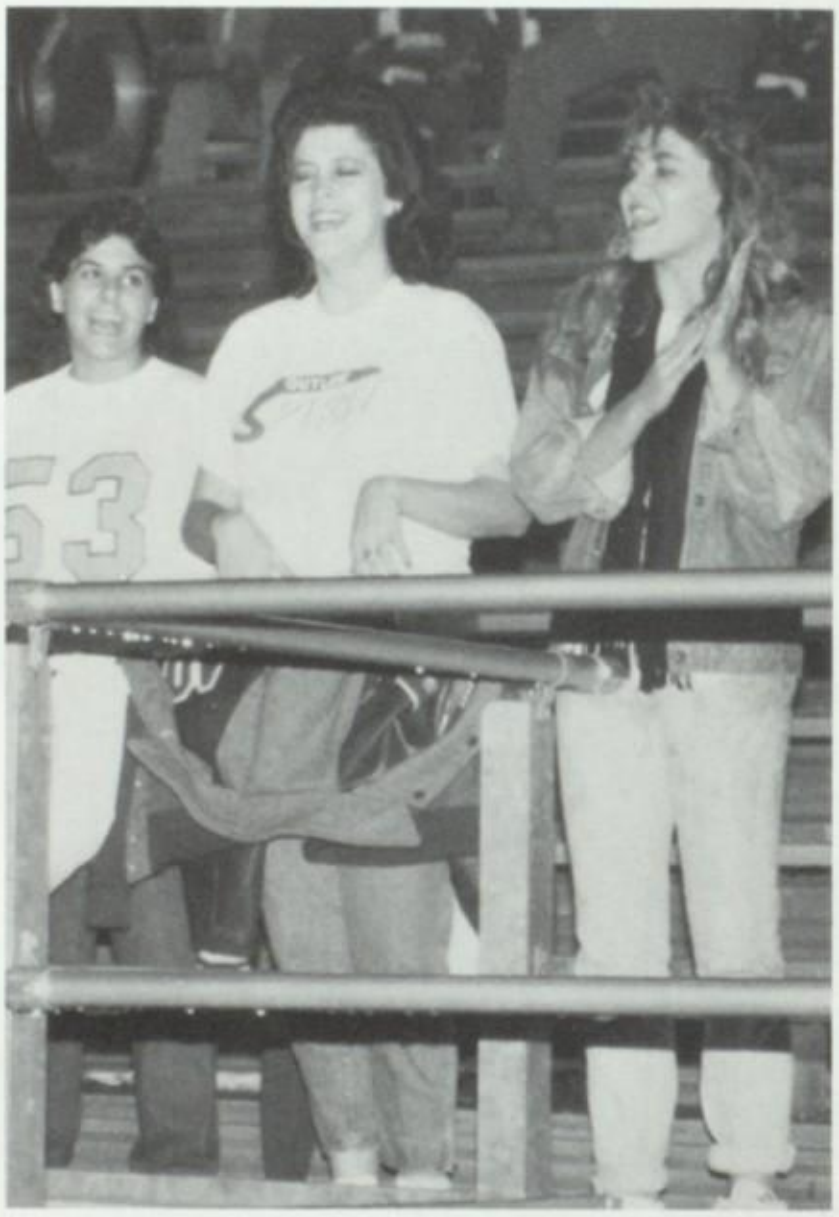
Senior High Has Spirit

Senior high pep club members stuck it out through the rain, mud, sun, and everything else. They tried to keep up the boys' spirits and let them know they were still loved. The five senior members, Kisha Fleming, Sheila Heifner, Lisa Holley, Teresa Morris, and Vickie Barker, showed a lot of leadership. The pep club sponsored a bon fire before the Mineral Springs and Horatio games to try to encourage the Outlaws. Even when the game was over and the scoreboard showed we had lost, the senior high pep club members were there with a cheer and a WE LOVE YOU BLUE.



Pep club girls took a break from cheering.

Seniors, Sheila Heifner, Lisa Holley, and Kisha Fleming showed their spirit.

While Vivian, JoAnn, and DeAnn smiled, Sandi looked away.

Junior Spirit Goes On

The Junior Pep Club cheered the boys on through tough nights. They were always yelling, smiling, and rooting for the Junior Outlaws, and tried to let the team know they were there. There was a pep assembly every Thursday in the gym to keep the boys' spirit going. Pep club members worked together very hard this past year to help the Junior Outlaws in any way they could.

Tammy cheered on the Outlaws while Brandi was a camera bug. Sheila Kesterson was enthused about the game.

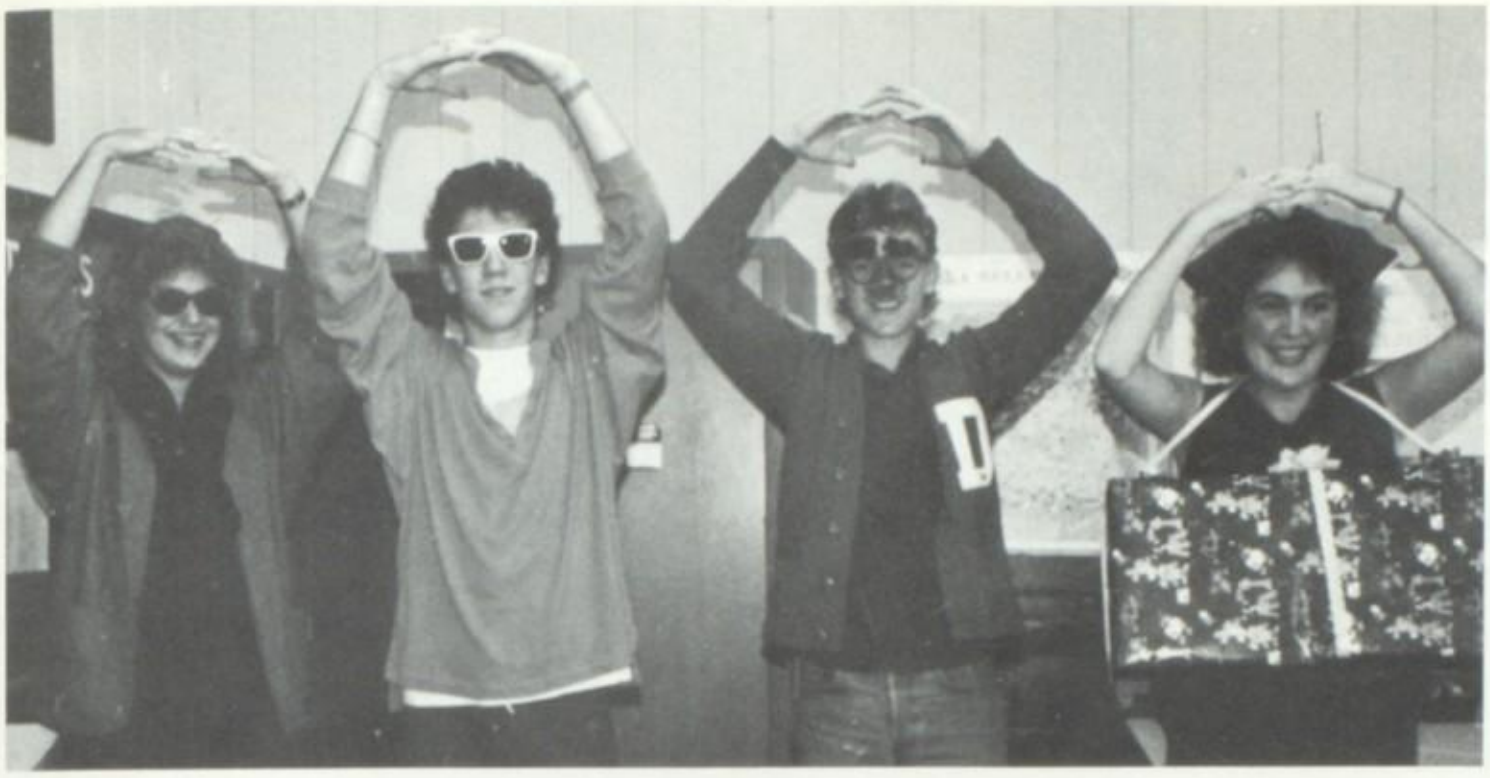
Echo Staff Beats the Clock

The Echo Staff's main purpose is to write articles that are interesting and benefit the school, by giving praise, calling attention to faulty behavior, and complimenting good behavior. Their job is to please the reader, although it doesn't always turn out that way. Staffers try to show good grammar usage and knowledge of journalism characteristics. They try to learn to write journalistically. Each staff member writes and types his own articles. They all work hard to publish the OUTLAW ECHO in the DIERKS BANNER each week.

Betsy was getting her materials together to go type.
Suzanne, Brad, and Andy read their finished product in the BANNER.

Sheila Heifner, Brad Garner — Co-Editors, Chip Griffin, Teresa Morris, Suzanne Walters, Betsy Stokes, Tena Romine, Jon Dowdy, Andy Norwood, Ms. Helen Gilbert - Adviser.

Ms. Gilbert strikes her famous pose.



Outlaw Staff Collects Memories

The events of a school year would soon be forgotten if someone didn't compile the memories in book form. The Outlaw staff had that difficult task this year. It takes hard work and dedication to get an annual ready to be published as the staff members soon found out. They were also responsible for selling ads to finance part of the cost of the book. Five deadlines had to be met throughout the school year. The atmosphere (and Mrs. Stapleton) were tense around deadline time, but the staff was proud each time a goal was reached. Now we can present to the school with pride the 1987 Outlaw - One Last Look.

Jrs. take a break from work. Karen Frachiseur and Karen Bray help as Mary Pinkerton finishes copy. Our editor, Susan Turner, works hard. Editor - Susan Turner, Members - Karen Frachiseur, Mary Pinkerton, Dale Harris, Shana Walston, Karen Bray, Sandi Parker, Karla White, Scott McRae, Shane Moore, Laura Brooks, Becky Johnson, Paula Kesterson, and Sheila Lott.

Fire Marshalls Get Fired up!

Fire marshalls have a big responsibility at D.H.S. If there is a fire, they must check all doors, and make sure everybody is out of the building and away from the fire hydrants. Each month they have a fire drill to practice getting everybody out of the building. After each fire drill they have to report on what was done right or wrong. Some things the fire marshalls commonly find wrong are that the students don't take the drills seriously, and they don't get far enough away from the building. It's a big responsibility, but somebody's got to do it.

Students filed out for the fire drill.

Fire marshalls panic during a fire drill.

Scott McRae, Brad Garner - Fire chief, Mike Kesterson, Suzanne Walters, Andy Norwood, Shana Walston, Morris McRae - Adviser

Students Attend Summer Programs

Karla White, Laura Brooks, and Greg Seale were chosen to participate in gifted and talented appreciation seminars last summer. They submitted applications to be considered by a selection board. All three learned from the experience and were glad they went. Greg went to Fox, Arkansas, and studied agriculture and conservation. Karla studied natural resources at Harding University. Her group took field trips to nuclear power plants and made a news video about what they had learned. Laura went to Fort Smith where she worked on research papers. She took a subject of interest and stated and tried to prove her point of view. Greg said, "I learned things on conservation and didn't realize we wasted so many natural resources." Karla commented, "I met a lot of new poeple and learned what it will be like at college." Laura stated, "It was too long, but I met a lot of people and had fun."

It was an honor for Betsy Stokes, Susan Turner, Jon Dowdy, and Brad Garner to go to Girls' and Boys' State, but not quite what they had expected.

They were up very early and stayed up late at night, which made them all a little grumpy. Jon and Brad said they spent a lot of time on the ground doing push ups, usually early in the morning. Still, everyone learned more about our state government and our election process.

Laura Brooks, Greg Seale, and Karla White went to gifted and talented programs this summer.

Jon Dowdy, Susan Turner, Betsy Stokes and Brad Garner attended Boys' and Girls' State.

Elementary shows School Spirit

During the week of November 3-7, the elementary school held their first spirit week under the direction of Mrs. Hill. Several events were planned for the week including Hats Off to the Outlaws Day in which hats were worn to show their spirit. An outstanding amount of spirit was shown on Hug an Outlaw and Respect a Teacher Day. Kevin Archer showed his spirit by winning the Hug an Outlaw award. Sign Day was a big success. Some of the signs that were made were transferred to the high school to be displayed for the Outlaw players. Blue and White Day ended a week of spirit with students sporting around in good ole' Blue and White. Great job, Elementary.

Sixth grade band performed at the pep rally.

Grade schoolers show spirit as they sing the school song.

Many grandparents attended the elementary school to participate in the festivities on Grandparent Day.

Scarlett and Darby reign over ceremonies.

Scarlett Grady, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grady and Darby Icenhower, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Icenhower were honored as Halloween King and Queen at the carnival on October 25. Scarlett and Darby represented Mrs. Stokes' second grade.

All the room representatives were chosen by their fellow students to represent each class in the carnival sponsored by the Dierks P. T. A.

Each King and Queen had a money can and collected money to see who would win the honor of Halloween King and Queen.

Mrs. Madonna Hill is Dierks' first elementary school counselor. This year she established a classroom guidance program for grades K-6 that emphasized personal skills such as making choices, sharing, caring, and cooperating with others. Mrs. Hill organized an elementary spirit week which stressed support for others. The Hug an Outlaw - Respect a Teacher Day was very popular with the students. Mrs. Hill is always available to students who have problems or questions or who just need someone to talk to. She truly is more than a counselor; she's everyone's friend.

Elementary students have had a Slush Puppy machine in the cafeteria this year. Tropical Bahama Mama, Goofy Grape, Snappy Strawberry, Tingo Tango Mango and Alotta Pina Colada were available during lunch. Tingo Tango Mango was the favorite, but Tropical Bahama Mama was not far behind. Money from the sale of slushes was used to buy supplies for the school.

The Church With a Heart

Do You Know?

I. The reason you need to be saved? Sin
   a. Romans 3:23, "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God."
   b. Romans 3:10-12, "As it is written, there is none righteous, no, not one! There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God. They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable; there is none that doeth good. No not one."

II. The Penalty of sin? Death
   a. Romans 6:23, "For the wages of sin is death: but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."
   b. Hebrews 9:27, "And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgement."

III. God has made provision for your dilemma.
   a. John 3:16, "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."
   b. I Corinthians 15:3,4, "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that He was buried, and that He rose again the third day according to the scriptures."

IV. Your response to God's provision — Believe.
   a. Romans 10:9,10,13, "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved."

HAVE YOU HEARD THAT . . .

1. God loves you and has a wonderful plan for your life.

John 3:16 "For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believes in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." John 10:10 "I came that they might have life, and have it abundantly."

2. Man is sinful and separated from God, therefore, he cannot know and experience God's love and plan for his life.

Romans 3:23 "For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God."
Romans 6:23 "For the wages of sin is death." (Spiritual separation from God.)

3. Jesus Christ is God's only provision for man's sin. Through him you can know and experience God's love and plan for your life.

Romans 5:8 "But God demonstrates his own love toward us, in that while we were sinners, Christ died for us."

4. We must individually receive Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord, then we can know and experience God's love and plan for our lives.

John 1:12 "But as many received him to them He gave the right to become children of God, even to those who believe in His name."
Ephesians 2:8,9 "For by grace are you saved through faith; and that not of ourselves, it is the Grace of God, not as a result of works, that none should boast."

The Outlaw Staff would like to extend a special thanks to Jerry Hyde and the DIERKS BANNER for photographs used in the sports section, the elementary section, and on the spirit week pages.

1987 was a memorable year in the eyes of the world. The Superbowl was won by the New York Giants, the first anniversary of the Challenger tragedy was remembered, more hostages were taken and released in the Middle East, and the U.S. brought back the America's Cup. All these events were memorable and emotional, but for a class from a small town in Arkansas, the most remembered event of 1987 has yet to happen.

On May 28, thirteen years of hard work and dedication will pay off. Thirty students dressed in blue and white caps and gowns will walk the aisle of the D.H.S. auditorium. Proud parents will smile as their senior will seat himself among friends and classmates for the last time. Throughout the ceremony, cherished memories of the years at Dierks High will be in the minds of each senior.

At one time graduation seemed so far away, but soon it will all be over. Diplomas will be accepted and the school song will be sung one last time. With teary eyes, our seniors will begin that long walk back up the aisle to face their futures. When they congregate in front of the auditorium after graduation, we hope their memories of the past are pleasant ones as they take ONE LAST LOOK.

Seniors were reminded of kindergarten days as they visited with Miss Brinda and Miss Linda.
